The Story of the Opera

Bastienne (soprano) has gone out to the meadow to watch over her flock of sheep. She waits for her boyfriend Bastien (tenor) and when she realizes that he has skipped their regular Saturday afternoon appointment, she is forced to admit that the rumors are true - Bastien has found another girlfriend! As she sits alone, feeling sad and mad, she hears music that announces the arrival of the great magician, Colas (bass). He has understood her predicament and offers his help.

Bastienne explains to Colas that people are talking about a new girl who has just arrived in the nearby city. The girl is rich and she fears Bastien has been lured away by her beauty, her fancy jewelry, her gigantic house, and above all, her ability to make a delicious chocolate cake! All Bastienne has to offer him is the charm of the meadows and the companionship of her sheep. Colas begs her not to waste energy being upset. He sends Bastienne away and he promises to use his magic powers to teach Bastien a lesson.

Bastien appears, but he is not happy. He has eaten so much that his stomach hurts! He has realized on his own that the city girl is not good for him and that Bastienne is his true love. Colas, determined to make sure that Bastien will never make this mistake again, tells him that it is too late; Bastienne has found another boyfriend and is no longer available. He makes Bastien swear to always be faithful, and then he recites a complicated “magic spell” ensuring that Bastien will win her back.

Bastienne appears and follows Colas’ instructions to pretend to reject Bastien. At the depth of despair, he threatens to run away and “jump into a lake.” Bastienne pretends not to care, but as she sees how truly sorry he is, she relents and forgives him. They realize that the true magic is found in the “words that heal our hearts and help us to forgive.” Colas joins them in a final song as they celebrate their understanding of the real magic, the magic of true love!

The Life of Mozart: 3rd and 4th Grade

Wolfgang Amadeus Mozart was born in Austria, where most people speak German. Wolfgang is a German name that means 'wolf path' and his middle name, Amadeus (Am-uh-day-us), means 'God's love' in Latin. Mozart is famous for writing music. He was a composer, and one of the greatest musicians of all time. He was famous as a child because he could play and write music from the age of 4. He grew up to write some of the most beautiful music ever heard.

Mozart was born on January 27, 1756, in the town of Salzburg, in Austria. Mozart lived before there were cars, trains or planes. When Mozart travelled around Europe, he went in a coach pulled by horses or by boat. The internet, cell phones and CD players did not exist. When people wanted to hear music they had to play it themselves, or go hear it performed live because there were no recordings. Mozart's mother and father were both musicians, and they knew Mozart had a very rare and special ability.

Wolfgang could play the keyboard at the age of 3 and by the time he was 5, he was writing his own songs. His talent was apparent, and he seemed to have music in his head. He could pick up a violin and play it, without even being shown how. Mozart's sister Maria Anna was good at music too. Mozart called her Nannerl, and they were very good friends. They made up their own secret language and told stories about a magic kingdom where they were king and queen. Leopold, Wolfgang's father, took his two children to Vienna (the capitol of Austria) where they played for the Emperor of Austria at his palace. Everyone was amazed and the Emperor called Mozart a 'little magician'.

In 1763 when Mozart was 7 years old, Leopold took the children on a tour of Europe. They went to France, and then took a ship to England. They stayed in London for a year where the children played for King George III. Wherever Mozart traveled he performed for many famous musicians and composers from whom he learned a great deal. His father took him to Italy, and there he saw opera for the first time, and he requested that Wolfgang write his own opera. At the young age of 12, he wrote his first opera: Bastien and Bastienne. Mozart astonished everyone with his talent. If he heard a song once, he could go home and write down all the notes from memory.

When he was older, Mozart gave piano lessons, but wasn't very responsible, and had trouble with money. In 1777 his mother went with him to Germany where he hoped to get a job as a musician in the royal court. Back then, rich princes had their own orchestras. In Germany, he fell in love with a singer, Aloysia Weber, but it was not meant to be. Aloysia married someone else, and Mozart later married her sister Constanze. Mozart found it difficult to work for royalty and he continued to travel before he finally settled in Vienna. Mozart never stopped writing music. He wrote music for piano and violin, for orchestras and singers, and chamber music for a quartet (4 players). He also wrote church music.

Mozart could write music very quickly and once wrote an opera in 3 weeks. He wrote 41 symphonies. He wrote funny operas, such as Così fan tutte (All Women Are Like That) and serious ones like The Magic Flute. He wrote solemn church music, and shorter, carefree pieces such as Eine Kleine Nachtmusik (A Little Night Music). Mozart was working on a piece of funeral music, called a Requiem, in the summer of 1791, when he became ill. No one knows what was wrong with him, but he did not recover and he died in December 1791. The great composer was so poor he was buried with other poor people in an unmarked 'paupers' grave'. Today Mozart's music is enjoyed all over the world. People still listen to it and enjoy thousands of recordings and live performances every year.
